WHAT IS PRP / PRF?

Platelet-Rich Plasma (PRP) and Platelet-Rich Fibrin (PRF) are products made from a small sample of your own blood. We draw a few teaspoons of blood, spin it in a centrifuge to concentrate on the healing proteins (called growth factors), and then place the resulting gel or liquid directly in the area being treated. Because this comes from your own blood, the risk of allergic reaction is very low.

Your provider is recommending this treatment to help with:

- ☐ Bone or tissue regeneration after an extraction or implant placement
- ☐ Enhanced healing of a surgical site
- ☐ Periodontal (gum) regeneration procedures
- ☐ Other: _____

POTENTIAL BENEFITS

- Faster healing of bone and soft tissue
- Reduced post-operative swelling and discomfort
- Lower infection risk compared to some synthetic grafting materials
- Uses your own biology — no donor material required

RISKS AND POSSIBLE COMPLICATIONS

No medical procedure is without risk. Potential risks include, but are not limited to:

- Temporary pain, swelling, or bruising at the blood-draw site in your arm
- Infection at the treatment site (rare)
- Incomplete healing — PRP/PRF may not fully achieve the desired outcome for every patient

- Nerve sensitivity near the treatment site
- In rare cases, the centrifuged sample may not yield a usable concentration, and an alternative plan may be needed

ALTERNATIVES

You may decline PRP/PRF. Alternatives may include:

- Healing without adjunctive growth factors (natural clot formation)
- Commercial bone graft or membrane materials
- Other biologic agents as appropriate

Your provider can explain how these alternatives compare for your specific situation.

⚠ STATE LAW NOTE: [STATE] may have specific requirements regarding the use of blood-derived biologics. [Insert applicable state dental board or pharmacy board disclosures here.]
